CAJE Partnership – Your Institutions Can Do It!

Obviously, if your organization sends 4 or more attendees to the CAJE Conference each year, or has many CAJE members in their midst, it is cost effective for your group as Partners get a free attendee for every 3 paid (if you become a Partner before the close of 2008) and discounted membership.

However, a Partnership is more than a Conference discount plan. By becoming a CAJE Partner, your institution is making a statement about how it values Jewish educators and education. You are also supporting a unique organization that focuses on the teachers in all settings and across all denominational lines in Jewish education. You are stating that striving for best practices in our educational settings is a goal that merits your backing.

$360 is not trivial for many of our budgets, but it is also not unattainable. Many communities may have individuals or groups committed to the CAJE goal who will underwrite such a Partnership. Some organizations have held earmarked fund raisers or have asked concerned families for $18 donations in honor of their educators.

Our growing list of Partners is a sign to the non-CAJE community that we are a group that is to be taken seriously when funding opportunities arise and a community that serves one of the widest array of Jewish educators. Find out more by contacting the CAJE Office here on campus or going to www.caje.org

Jon Nelson and Yom Hadash to perform on Tuesday evening!

Please note there was an error on the CAJE Website: JON Nelson (not Josh Nelson) will be performing on Tuesday evening at Brennan's Pub, from 8:45 - 9:45 PM. Full description of the program:

For over a decade, Yom Hadash has been inspiring audiences with their innovative sound and style. One of the premier recording and touring groups in the nation, the band's concerts & original songs (sung in both English and Hebrew), have made them true innovators in their genre. By fusing rock, pop & world music with traditional Jewish melodies and traditions, Jon Nelson and his band have helped redefine the landscape of World/Jewish Music. With hundreds of performances at Music Festivals, Jewish Community Centers, Synagogues, Sporting Events, Colleges and Camps under their belt, the band continues to establish itself as the "New Day" in World Music.

Additional Presenter Bios:

Lawrence Dermer - a three time Grammy nominated songwriter/producer who has sold over 50 million albums worldwide. Some of the artists he has written and produced for include Madonna, Jennifer Lopez, Will Smith, Cher, Gloria Estefan. His band "Third House Rising" delivers a unique danceable blend of Latin, Pop, Middle Eastern and R & B music. "The music is absolutely phenomenal, a little techno-groovy and the thrill of the Jewish Soul with an Israeli fusion influence! " I absolutely love it!" - Marcy J. Levinson, Atlanta Jewish Times

Sue Horowitz - educator, song leader, composer, and youth leader who lives in York Beach, Maine. She is the former director of education and songleader at Temple Israel, in Dover, New Hampshire. She currently teaches and consults in several seacoast synagogues, and leads services and performs concerts in the New England area. Songs from her debut cd, "Eleven Doors Open", are used throughout the country in summer camps, life-cycle rituals and shabbat services.

Roger Smith - (or Reuven, he answers to both) plays percussion, drums, and guitar. Roger has always viewed making music as his tefilot, and you will find him providing percussion backup for CAJE musicians, as our "CAJE percussionist on-call"!
